GOLD EATING WATER

SPARKLING LIQUID CHARGED WITH CYANIDE OF POTASSIUM.

MILLIONS IN THE YELLOW METAL RECOVERED BY FERCOLATION—A SIMPLE BUT INTERESTING PROCESS, WITH RESULTS WHICH ARE NOTHING LESS THAN MARVELOUS.

IT IS NOT generally known, even in California, that millions of dollars in glittering gold are annually taken from huge heaps of base looking quartz by the gentle flowing of crystal water over huge piles of broken rocks that contain the precious metal, but such is the fact.

"The process of robbing the earth of its gold has now been reduced to such a fine point," said Professor Price, "that the gentle flowing of water over the ore yields it of its golden treasures, and this works well in cases where the old chloride and other methods are not so successful."

But the watchword which Professor Price spoke is not so pure as it looks, though the eye could never distinguish it from that which is dipped by the oil-soaked bucket from well in the deep tangled wildwood. The water used by miners in bringing gold from piles of mineral bearing quartz is charged with a simple chemical which has the potency to dissolve gold and hold it in solution.

In truth, the sparkling liquid which flows over hundreds of tons of quartz, trickles through the mines and seeks its level, laden with gold, is charged with a deadly poison, cyanide of potassium, a drug which severs cut the minuscule particles of the yellow metal, dissolves them and brings the precious burden to the vat for conversion into refined gold again.

The cyanide process is as noiseless and unerring as the laws of gravitation, doing its work as quietly as "the majestic drive of the hours," undisturbed by darkness or weather, by disasters of field or flood.

The state mining bureau of California was one of the first in the United States to investigate the merits of the cyanide process, and since the earliest investigation the method has found extensive application. It is so interesting that its results are nothing less than marvelous.

This method of extracting both gold and silver from ores is based on the fact that even a very weak solution of cyanide of potassium dissolves gold and silver, forming respectively "auro-potassio cyanide" and "argentio-potassio cyanide" in the language of the chemists.

This interesting process consists of treating the ore with a weak solution of potassium cyanide, usually by allowing the solution to percolate through the ore, or by agitating a mixture of the ore and solution. When this part of the operation is completed, the solution is separated from the solid material, and the gold and silver are precipitated in a mesh to form. The process is modicum in its application, though it has long been known that cyanide of potassium would "eat gold." During the last five years, however, the process has been introduced into almost every goldfield in California and elsewhere, and more than $50,000,000 have been recovered by the gentle flowing of water charged with the aural chemical over heaps of ore. Aside from the thoroughness of the percolating water method, its economy is a striking feature in mining. It is in great favor with the gold mining companies of New Zealand and at Johannesburg, Africa, as well as in California.

One of the most advantageous features of the cyanide method is that it can be applied to many gold and silver ores generally called "rebellious" or "refractory." The rebellious ore is placed in a vat for percolation, and the solution is run preferably from the bottom by a pipe, rising slowly through the ore. The solution containing gold is carried through precipitating apparatus into the final reservoir, where, robbed of its wealth of metal, it may be reprecipitated into ore rats and again used for searching out the concealed metal.

One of the curious things about the solution is, that a total percent is not stronger than one eighth of 1 per cent will carry away the gold almost as well as a fluid of greater strength.

Percolation is effected by the use of fine pieces of zinc, so arranged that when the rich waters flow over them the fine gold clusters in their deposits over the zinc, for which it has an affinity. The gold which thus deserts the waters of cyanide deposits itself in the form of fine dust on the plates of zinc. The percentage of gold extracted by this process is very large. A large parcel of fine sulphur from the U.S. mines yielded over 90 of 98.18 per cent of the gold value under the cyanide treatment, and similar results have been experienced else where in the state. The cyanide plants are being extended, and the process is now everywhere becoming popular—San Francisco Chronicle.

Wesley's Mother.

The mother of John and Charles Wesley, the founders of Methodism, was one of the most remarkable characters of her century, or any other. From tender years the prime place of religion and practical piety was enthroned in the minds of her children. She daily took them into her room and prayed with them, impressing upon their minds with the sternest impressiveness that the Methodist cause must be upheld in her home.

PROGRESS.

People who get the greatest degree of comfort and real enjoyment out of life, are those who make the most out of their opportunities. Quick perception and good judgment, and such promptitude to adopt and make use of those refined and improved products of modern inventive genius which best serve the needs of their business. Accordingly, the most intelligent and progressive people are found to employ the most refined and perfect laxative to regulate and tone up the system, liver, and bowels, which makes such an agent—hence the great popularity of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are made from the purest, most refined and concentrated vegetable extracts, and from forty different plants, which are contained in each tablet, which is sold at the same price as the cheaper made and more ordinary pills found in the market. In curative virtues, there is no comparison to be made between them and the ordinary pills, as any one may easily learn by sending for a free sample. The name of the manufacturer, the address on a post card, and the name and address on a postal card.

ONCE USED THEY ARE ALWAYS IN FAVOR.

The pellets cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, diarrhoea, convulsions, or constipation, sour stomach, dyspepsia, coated tongue, indigestion, or dysentery, windy belches, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. They are a laxative, two tablets daily, and a cathartic, two tablets daily, to promote digestion. Take one each day after dinner. To relieve distress from over-eating, they are unequalled. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, any child will readily take them. Accidents and substances that may be recommended to be taken as a remedy by your physician, may be had "on credit" for a small fee, and a letter of credit will be sent on receipt of name and address on a post card.

NOTHING BUT THE OFFICES.

Tuesday's elections settle nothing save and except who shall hold the offices. The leading men of the United States say the monetary question is the paramount issue of the day. It is the issue upon whose proper solution depends the prosperity of the country for years. If the single gold standard is firmly fastened upon us the farmer can make up his mind that he must pay very nearly two bushels of wheat for a dollar; the laborer will be forced to the conclusion that he must give eight or ten hours' work for a dollar; the owner of silver mines cannot expect to get more than sixty-five or seventy cents an ounce for his bullion, and he who is in debt cannot reasonably expect to square accounts with his creditors for years, if at all.

The result of the elections does not tend to solve the monetary problem—the issue of the issues. In all the States in which elections were held, with the single exception of Mississippi, the victors and the vanquished did not differ on that issue. Both declared for the gold standard, and both so arranged the campaign by appealing to prejudices that the friends of silver, and they comprise the majority of the people, had to choose between the two wings of the gold party. What would the silver cause gain if the result of the elections was reversed? Absolutely nothing, provided Blackburn is re-elected United States Senator from Kentucky, as he was the only candidate who made a fight for the people on the monetary issue, and Republicans and administration Democrats combined to defeat him.

No, if relief is to be afforded the masses by national legislation the battle of 1896 must be fought on different lines. The monetary issue must be clearly defined, so that the voter can express his preference at the ballot box for the double or single standard, and that can be done only by having an absolute free coinage ticket in the field.

THE REPUBLICAN WING VICTORIOUS.

The battle for the offices between the Republican and Democratic wings of the gold combination resulted in a victory for the former in nearly all the States in which elections were held on Tuesday. In New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, Ohio, Iowa and Kentucky both factions declared in their platforms for the single gold standard. In New York both factions also declared against tariff tinkering, and they differed only on local issues, while in Maryland the principal issue was "Gormaism."

It is surmised that Cleveland contributed directly to the success of the Republican wing in some of the States. In Kentucky the administration succeeded in getting the Democrats to endorse the financial plank of the Republican platform. As this was unsatisfactory to free coinage men, they were kept in the party by placing a silver man for Governor on a gold platform. The administration forces in Louisville, where there is a custom-house, and the Courier-Journal opposed the silver man, and he was defeated.

It is barely possible that Senator Blackburn, who made a fight for the Legislature against the combined forces of the administration and the Republicans, has a majority on joint ballot, and that he will be re-elected to the Senate. This would be gall and wormwood to Cleveland and Carlisle, as Blackburn is an avowed free coinage man, and opposed to the financial policy of the administration.

There is, of course, great rejoicing in the camp of the Republican contingent of the gold combination, as the victory gives them the offices, the spoils of which were what the twins were contending for at the polls.

THE KEELEY MOTOR.

In 1871 John W. Keeley of Philadelphia claimed to have discovered a new force the power of which was more marvelous than that of electricity. A company was organized under the laws of Pennsylvania to utilize the new force. It was the sensation of the day and as the discoverer carefully guarded the secret, the public was kept in the dark regarding the wonderful force. Shares sold high, but for some cause the motor was not put in practical operation and many denounced it as a fraud. Finally the motor ceased to be a subject of discussion and it was looked upon by practical people, in the same light as perpetual motion. Now, however, John Jacob Astor has taken an interest in the matter and has purchased a large block of stock in the corporation. He believes that Keeley has discovered a new force and that it will supersede steam and electricity as a motive power as soon as the proper machinery for applying it can be devised, and he has such faith in its success that he has become a large stockholder.

The Secretary of the Interior will recommend to the President the extension of civil service rules by placing the law clerks of the Interior Department and the General Land Office under the rules. He will also suggest that all members of the clerical force in the Indian office not now under civil service be included in the order.

The Silver party men in Washington have been discussing the question of holding their national convention. They will wait until the Republican and Democratic national committees fix the time for holding their conventions before deciding upon the date of their own. Denver or Salt Lake City will probably be selected as the place for holding the convention. All who favor the remonetization of silver will be invited to send delegates to the convention.

MISSISSIPPI—the only State which held an election the other day in which every candidate, from Governor to Constable, was pledged to vote for no person not in favor of free coinage—elected the entire Democratic ticket. Cleveland could not control the convention and framed the platform, and Carlisle's enemies could not make a convert to the gold theory in that State.

The Leather Trust has shut down one hundred tanneries. Not another hide will be placed in their vats for sixty days, and 15,000 men are thrown out of employment.

The Director of the Mint estimates that the silver product of the United States will be from 8,000,000 to 9,000,000 ounces less in 1895 than it was in 1894.

LAST TUESDAY'S ELECTIONS.

SUMMARY OF THE RESULTS IN THE SEVERAL STATES.

Large Republican Gains in a Number of Supposed Democratic States.

Special to the JOURNAL Massachusetts.

BOSTON, November 6.—Greenhalge is elected Governor by 64,444 plurality, a loss of 1,338, compared with last year. The Legislature on joint ballot will be composed of 217 Republicans and 62 Democrats.

New York.

NEW YORK, November 6.—The Legislature on joint ballot will contain 134 Republicans, 65 Democrats and 1 Independent. The entire Republican State ticket is elected. The Tammany municipal ticket was elected in New York city. Cummings (Dem.) was elected to Congress to fill a vacancy in the Tenth district. Last year this district went Republican.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, November 6.—Six of the seven Judges of the Supreme Court are Republican, as is also the State Treasurer.

Ohio.

COLUMBUS, November 6.—Bushnell (Rep.) is elected Governor by about 90,000 plurality. The Legislature will be Republican on joint ballot.

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, November 6.—Lowndes (Rep.) is elected Governor by 15,000 plurality, although several Democrats were elected to State offices. The Legislature will be Republican on joint ballot.

New Jersey.

TRENTON, November 6.—Griggs (Rep.) is elected Governor by about 24,000 majority, and the Legislature is also Republican.

Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, November 6.—Hadly (Rep.) is elected to Congress to fill a vacancy in the Eighteenth district. The Republicans also elected the municipal ticket in Chicago.

Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, November 6.—Bradley, Republican, elected Governor; Legislature in doubt with Populists holding balance of power. Blackburn confident of his election.

Mississippi.

JACKSON, November 6.—Governor, all State officials and Legislature Democratic. This was the only State where the Democrats declared for silver.

Utah Territory.

SALT LAKE, November 6.—Weis, Mormon, elected Governor; Legislative Republican; constitution adopted. In Salt Lake Judicial District Republicans nominate for Judges are probably all defeated.

Iowa.

DES MOINES, November 6.—The Republicans claim the State by over 60,000, while the Democrats concede 63,000, which was Jackson's plurality two years ago. The Republican committee states that the house has 74 Republicans and 26 Democrats, and the Senate 42 Republicans and 8 Democrats. This gives Senator Allison 16 out of 150 votes on a joint ballot next winter when he comes up for re-election.

Virginia.

RICHMOND, November 6.—The Democrats have a majority in the Legislature; no State officers elected.

Kansas.

TOPEKA, November 6.—Indications are that Republicans have carried a majority of their county tickets; Martin was elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

THE BARGAIN SEAL.

Miss Vanderbilt, now the Duchess of Marlborough.

NEW YORK, November 6.—The Duke of Marlborough and Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt were married at St. Thomas' Church at Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street at 12:30.

By 8 o'clock women monopolized the entrance of the Twombly mansion, adjoining the church, and later arrivals took possession of the railings, doors, garden plots, and in some instances window sills. The crowd began to swell and the police kept the spectators moving, none being permitted to loiter in front of approaches to the edifice.

Little could be seen of the costumes by outsiders, owing to closed awnings the entire length of the curb. The

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

ITEMS FROM HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE.

The News says coyotes are more numerous in White Pine county this season than for many years.

Louis Terry, foreman of a cattle ranch, was thrown from his horse near Tuscarora and had one of his legs broken.

Forty tons of ore from the Gold Note mine at Kennedy are being hauled to Winnemucca for shipment to the Selby Smelting Works. It will average about $150 per ton and net the Irish boy, who owns the mine, quite a handsome sum, so says the Silver State.

The Central Nevadan says northern Lander may experience a mining boom shortly as the prospect point strongly in that direction.

The Elko Independent says about two months ago a vaquero working on the Spanish Ranch was sent by F. Carillo, the foreman, to turn a bunch of cattle has not been seen or heard of since. The man was a stranger from California and it is feared that the horse he was riding fell on him and killed him. Search has been made, but no trace of horse or rider has been found.

Judge A. H. Greenhalgh of Smoky Valley, Nye county, has delivered 500 head of cattle to John Sibbard of Humboldt. The cattle were driven several hundred miles without the loss of an animal.

The White Pine News says a fine development of carbonaceous silver-lead ore has been made by Henry Steady in the Ne Plus Ultra mine in Swansea canyon. There has been quite a hopeful feeling generally prevailing in Hamilton, that the old town that witnessed during 1868-69-'70, the liveliest times ever seen in Eastern Nevada, if not on the coast, will again forge to the front.

Never for years have prospects looked so well as now; but owing to the low price of silver and lead but little work is being prosecuted now in White Pine district. It is for American people to restore silver, and when this is done all mining will be prosecuted and all prosperity will be restored and America will once again be a happy land.

The Treadwell mill at Douglas Island Juneau, Alaska, crushes and treats ore for $1.37 per ton, pays $3.50 a day to 170 white workers and $2 a day to 90 Indians. Last year nearly 250,000 tons were milled or treated at a profit of $1.28 per ton, or over $300,000 for the year, amounting to 6 per cent on the investment or stock. The mill has 240 stamps and is the largest in capacity of any in this country.

CURE FOR HEADACHE.

As a remedy for all forms of headache, Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Large bottles only fifty cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

The "District School" at the Opera House next Saturday night promises to be one of the greatest amusement events of the season. It will recall many incidents of the school days of fifty or sixty years ago, such as the crooked pin on the school benches, the funny pictures on the blackboard and the tick-tack under the school masters desk. Tommy Hymers and Ruffy Kinney will be dressed in knee breeches and buttoned waists. Randolph Osborne will have to stand up in the corner for trying an ink bottle on the braid of one of the girl's hair. Allie Bragg will be dressed in loose fitting white pants and a roudabout and recite "Mary Had a Little Lamb." Johnnie Phillips, Nath Stanley and Marty Ward will be punished for playing merrily pog in school. Henry Bergstein, Franklin Lee and Bobby Moore will get trounced for having a lizard in school with a string tied to it and allowing it to run around on the school-room floor. Many other old time school incidents will be introduced that will recall to the minds of those along in years their early school days and make them children again.

Last, but not least, Judge Webster will appear as the proverbial selectman and will endeavor to examine the pupils in "book learning" and in his questioning will demonstrate how the old selectman would make pretensions before the scholars of being wonderfully wise when in reality he did not know what he was talking about. Reserve your seats early at Lake's book store.

TAXES DUE AND PAYABLE.

Taxes for the year 1895 are now due and payable to the Treasurer, who is ex-officio Tax Receiver, at his office in the Courthouse. Taxes will be delinquent on Monday, December 2d, at the close of business hours, so to save expense, it is hoped by the Journal that every one will strain a point and pay before that time. No method of evading the Tax Collector has yet been devised. The property is held for the amount, and will be sold if the taxes are not paid.

It was Grover Cleveland who inaugurated a crusade against silver; it was Grover Cleveland who strangled his own party into submission to crush it; it was Grover Cleveland, shame be it to liberty, who openly bribed Congressmen by patronage to betray their constituents.

To-day Sherman endorses Cleveland's financial policy; to-day Sherman desires his mantle to fall on McKinley. Goldite Cleveland desires his mantle to fall on Whitney. Their desire emanates from Wall Street. What Sherman wants, for he is the financial god of the party, Quay, Platt and Carter will listen to, and what they decide on will be agreeable to the Nevada Republicans. Mr. Quay is against silver; he is for gold, Carter is for party.

A SITUATION FOR REPUBLICANS.

There is a situation for the silver Republicans of our State. There has been a good deal of gun fizz allegiance to silver by these party men. We want silver, and perhaps if the Gazette or Enterprise, or Silver Summerfield, or Tricky Coffie, or Good Folower Turritan—three of the graces who with Sherman will get up a free

The Discovery Saved His Life.

M. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaverton, Ill., says: To Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail, and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began to use, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it. Get a free trial at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

My Sweetheart.

Her cheeks are like the roses,
Her brow is lily white;
And I know the reason,
She takes Park's Tea each night,
She's strong and well and happy, too,
Her face is clear and bright,
And laughingly she tells the cause,
"I take Park's Tea each night."

HABITS OF THE MANATEE
A Harmless Monster That Feeds Under Water on Grasses.

The manatee belongs to a mammalian order called sirenia, or seacows, which contains only three species—our manatee, that of west Africa and the dugong of Australia. As its clumsy form suggests, it is an animal of quiet and even sluggish habits, entirely harmless, and eaten when at home, its food consists of terrestrial aquatic plants and grasses, always eaten under water, and its presence is generally revealed by the bits of broken stems and grass which escape and float to the surface above where it is

In captivity it feeds on cabbage, lettuce, the leaves of the canna, celery, turnip, carrots, spinach, and also certain kinds of ocean seaweed. In the St. Louis river its favorite food is a luxuriant, trailing aquatic grass, called manatee grass, in which the manatee finds not only good food, but good hiding places from its human enemies.

The lines of this animal are massive, solid and quite heavy (some hunters will tell you its bones are "solid ivory"), and its skin is as thick and tough as that of a hippopotamus. I have seen very good ones made of strips of manatee skin, twisted like a lightning rod and dried. Its flesh is very good, and, to me, it tastes quite like lean pork.
Curiously enough, this strange creature actually sheds its outer skin every year, as does a serpent. The living specimens that from time to time have been captured and kept for exhibition in Demenico, Philadelphia, New York and London have in all cases been of small or modest size, varying in length from 4 to 7 feet. The one which was shown in the Central Park menagerie in 1873 was 9 feet 4½ inches in length and weighed 450 pounds.—W. T. Hornaday in St. Nicholas.

A FAMOUS MAN'S MOTHER

Thomas Wentworth Higginson's Beautiful Tribute to His Mother.

I trace to my mother's direct influence since her birth motives of her youngest son's life—the love of personal liberty, of religious freedom and of the equality of the sexes—wrote Thomas Wentworth Higginson in The Ladies' Home Journal.
As to the more subtle and intimate influences, they ordinarily came by contact not by preaching. She always maintained that the young children of a large family had a much better chance for development than the elder because they had more freedom to develop themselves. With her elder children, she always said, overconscientiousness almost bore her to the earth. She felt personally responsible for every child's fault.
She had been reared in the school of Locke, which regarded the human soul as blank paper, on which parents and teachers did all the writing. But her education was of strong and varied individuality, and she learned in time to study the temperament of each and be patient with its unfolding. Her whole formula of training consisted in these three things. To retain the entire confidence of the child, to do whatever seemed wise and to be patient. Her trust in Providence was absolute and controlling, as was her sense of the personality of the Deity.

Most valuable of all her traits to her children next to her quality of sunshine was probably her absolute rectitude, the elevation of her whole tone, the complete unworldliness, so that no child of hers ever heard her refer to any standard but the highest. With all this was combined the conscientious accuracy in affairs, the exquisite nicety in all household details, which belong to the best of the traditions of New England.

THE CONTAGION OF IDEAS.

Affirmation, pure and simple, without reasoning and without proof, is one of the surest means of planting an idea in the popular mind. The more concise it is, the more free from every appearance of proofs and demonstration, the more authority it has. The religious books and the codes of all ages have always proceeded by simple affirmation.
Statesmen called upon to defend any political cause and manufacturers advertising their goods know what it is worth. Yet it has no real influence, except it is constantly repeated and so far as possible in the same terms. Napoleon said that repetition was the only serious figure in rhetoric. By repeating an affirmation is increased in the minds of hearers till they at last accept it as a demonstrated truth. What is called the current of opinion is formed, and then the potent mechanism of cont. on comes in. Ideas that have reached a certain stage, in fact, possess a contagious power as intense as that of microbes.
Not fear and courage only are contagious.
Ideas are, too, on condition that they are repeated often enough.

When the mechanism of contagion has begun to work, the idea enters upon the phase that leads to success. Opinion, which repelled it at first, ends by tolerating and then accepting it. The idea henceforward gains a penetrating and subtle force which sends it onward, while at the same time creating a sort of special atmosphere, a general way of thinking.—Popular Science Monthly

One of the Three.
A bold and fearless statement was made in this column a few days ago touching beauty. It was put forth that there were only three actresses on earth who could lay an honest claim to beauty
"Clara M." writes that her curiosity has been aroused and wants to know who the three are. Now, it would be very ungracious to say. The statement has all the actresses in the world guessing, and until the names of the three are mentioned each of our footlight favorites will believe she is one of them.
Why spoil their fun? What is the use of calling names to make people feel immortal and slighted and misunderstood?
I do not doubt that Miss Clara M., if she be an actress, could lay an honest claim to recognition as one of the three.
—New York Press.

Dry.
In a volume of sermons by a well known but turgid preacher the following lines were found written upon the leaflet.

If there should be another flood,
For refuge hither fly.
Though all the world should be submerged,
This book would still be dry.

Artificial Cotton.

Artificial cotton, says a Paris journal, resembles the natural product in this that both are formed of cellulose nearly pure, and nature has prepared cotton by means of the elements of the air and soil forming the cellulose in fine fibers by means of secret forces and offering it in the state of wool to be transformed into what is required of it, so the chemist in his laboratory takes the natural cellulose of the tree and separates it from the substances with which it is combined, transforming it into threads by means of suitable appliances. For this purpose fir wood is employed, this being submitted to a series of mechanical and chemical operations, and the threads are drawn out, afterward being rolled on bobbins. The material when manufactured resembles ordinary cotton, though having a slight defect, which can be easily corrected—that is,
it is a little less solid than natural cotton.
On the other hand, however, the new substance is worked and woven easily. It can be dyed as readily as natural cotton, and when passed through a weak solution of tannin and certain other reagents it will take every shade of artificial colors and can be dressed and printed on just as are the tissues of natural cotton.

Ho Desired Moderation.

"Yessiree," said Farmer Cornstoge, as he tilted back in the rocking chair and let the paper fold itself over his knee. "I'm a redhot, out-and-out total reformer every time."

"Well," replied Mrs. Cornstoge,
"I'm right glad to hear ye say so."

"What fur?"

"Well, af yer goin in fer reform, I reckon mabbe ye'll be out o' bed 'fore 6 in the mornin an have stove wood handy for the breakfas' fire, an do a little turn at the milkin once in a while, an git yer apples into town 'fore they're down to 50 cents a bush'lan'—"

"Hole on, Mandy," was the solemn interruption. "Hole on! I said was out for reform, an I'll stan by it. But I'm blamed if I'm goin in for any revolution."—Washington Star.

Versatile Sailor Men.

The versatility of the man who has been educated on a sailing vessel will bear investigation. He has not only to be a sailor and a rigger, but is something of a carpenter, a sailmaker, a cook, a tailor, a barber and a blacksmith and has a speaking acquaintance with several other trades. A thoroughbred sailor can, in fact, turn his hand to almost anything that comes up and do it as well as, if not a little better than the average, and he would find himself in a pickle lots of times if it were not for that same versatility.—New York Tribune.

She Wanted Samples.

"Is this where you vote?" said an Ohio voter to an election officer.

"Yes ma'am."

"Then please cut off samples of all the tickets, and I'll take them home and see which I like best"—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Woman as an Inventor.

It has long been a stock argument against it of a quality of the feminine mind that, while women are excellent in the imitative arts, they cannot invent.
Now the chairman of the committee on women's inventions of the Atlanta exposition says that the number of women's patents she has collected is too large to be accommodated in the space set apart for them. As it is reasonably to be assumed that these selected inventions were good ones, the woman of the century has scored another point against her traditional critics.—New York Tribune.
